the public. National emotion is now in a state of disquietude over the reverses to British arms, dissatisfaction with the conduct of military business is intense, and to see the thing through. The War Office has issued orders for the formation of five new batteries. Some idea of the extent of the artillery resources to be drawn upon may be gained from the fact, according to the statement of a military expert this morning, that an old practice howitzer at Lydd, in Kent, with which it is impossible to do accurate shooting, but which for some time has been solely used to test shells, has been laid under requisition for the front. Orders have been received at Lydd to pack this venerable relic with as much dispatch as possible for embarkation. Seventeen more militia battalions will be embodied in the course of a fortnight. All the regulars are now out of the country, except fourteen infantry battalions and eleven cavalry battalions. The War Office has placed an order for 32,000,000 cartridges in cases.

The yeomanry committee announces that it has accepted 5,000 out of 10,000 which it wishes to raise, and still has 20,000 applicants to be examined. The Daily Chronicle asserts that the committee was goaded into this statement by the reports that there was no hope of getting the full number.

The War Office has wired to countermand the departure from Egypt of a number of officers who were previously ordered to South Africa. The Daily Chronicle, commenting on this and upon other news related to it, says: "There are some curious reports in circulation-apparently with some authority behind them-which point to the stoppage of the dispatch of further reinforcements when the troops now mobilized shall have embarked. The new cavalry brigade is not to leave England at

The military and civil authorities at the Cape are in conflict over the treason cases. A dispatch to the Daily Mail from Sterkstrom says on this point: "Keokomons and Nel, two Dutchmen who were tried by court-martial during Christmas week with General Buller's sanction, were committed on Jan. 12 for civil trial. The courtmartial proceedings have been stopped by the intervention of the attorney general of Cape Colony."

A dispatch from Sterkstrom, dated Jan 15, reports that General Gatacre's troops had made a demonstration beyond Molteno, in the direction of Stormberg, in the belief that the Boers intended to seize Molteno. The burghers were not sighted and the British remained at Molteno. Arrivals from Stormberg estimate that there are 4,500 Boers at that place, mostly revolted colonists and Free Staters. President Stevn's brother is the landdrost, Gen. French continues to shell the Boer positions, but nothing decisive has taken place.

Evidence accumulates that General Methuen's blunder at Magersfontein has lost him the confidence of his entire force to such an extent that, it is declared, it is doubtful if the troops would follow him in another attack on the Boers. The War Office is understood to be in possession of a letter written by General Wauchope the night before the battle, saying that would be the last letter he would ever write, as he had been asked to perform an impossible task and he had either to obey or to surrender his sword. An immediate change in the command of the force may therefore be expected. It is anticipated in some quarters that Lieutenant General Tucker will succeed Gen. Methuen.

it is still uncertain that the entire special service squadron is going to South Africa when relieved at Gibraltar by the channel squadron, a portion of it will be detailed to convey the new naval brigade being formed for service at the front in Cape Colony. This brigade, consisting of 720 men, eight 4.7-inch guns, 24 Maxims and eight 10-pounders, will be taken to Gibraltar by the channel squadron when it sails Jan. 30.

RUNNING THE BLOCKADE.

French Landing Big Gans for Boers-Trouble in Swaziland.

LONDON, Jan. 17 .- The Pitermaritzburg correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Jan. 16, says: "The Delagoa bay correspondent of the Natal Times asserts that six big Creuzot guns and fifty tons of shells were landed from the French steamer Cironde about the middle of last month, under the noses of two British warships, and were dispatched to Pretoria, causing much rejoicing at the ease with which contraband of war can run the blockade.

"The Swazi Queen's mother, since the death of King Bunu, has killed all the chiefs who were ever in England or Cape Town, and is now plotting with the Boers. The situation may fairly be considered grave, and it would be well to send regiments of Guerkhas to Swaziland immediately."

Refugees from Swaziland living in the Lebombo district recently brought news to Lourenzo Marques that the Queen of Swaziland was dead. Her death, following so soon upon that of King Bunu, was looked upon with suspicion. According to their story, however, not the Queen mother, but Necoco, Bunu's brother, was acting as the head of the Swazi nation, and he, in conjunction with Tocuba, Umbandine's old prime minister, was carrying on a reign of terror, killing off whole kraals all over the

LADYSMITH BATTLEFIELD.

Evidence that British Guns Worked Great Havoc Among the Boers,

LADYSMITH, Jan. 8 (by Messenger to Weenen, Jan. 16.)-A reporter of the Assoclated Press visited Saturday's battlefield this morning and saw a large number of Boer dead. The British guns seemed to have worked great havoc. One Boer was completely disemboweled, another had his head clean shot off, and a couple of others were killed by the same shell, evidently, while eating their luncheon, as half-eaten hard-boiled eggs lay beside them. Some Natal Dutchmen were recognized among the dead. A number of Boer bodies and carcasses of horses have been washed down into Tombi Spruit, which became raging torrent during a heavy thunderstorm. The British, while digging graves, were fired on by Boer artillery and several of them were killed. Softened and dumdum cartridges have been found on wounded prisoners. Volunteers carried the Boer dead off the hill and handed the bodies over to their comrades at the bottom Over ninety were thus carried off Wagon hill alone.

Free Staters Said to Be Tired of the War-Kruger's Preparations.

LONDON, Jan. 17.-The Durban correspandent of the Standard deals to-day with the numerous reports that the Free Staters have tired of war and will abandon the struggle as soon as the British cross the border. He mentions an extraordinary story with reference to a journey of President Kruger's son-in-law, Eloff, to Delagoa bay in a German warship. According to this Eloff has been making arrangements for President Kruger's escape through German Damaraland, in the event of the capture of Pretoria.

CHARGES OF CRUELTY

Made Against the English in a Letter from Pretoria.

MISHAWAKA, Ind., Jan. 16.-J. Q. C. Van Den Bosch, a retired manufacturer of this city and formerly an official in the Holland State Department at The Hague, has received the following letter from Heinrich Van Der Riep, a young lawyer who resides in Pretoria:

"When trouble began here I joined Joubert's forces. It was a triumphal march of the volunteers in the invasion of Natal and a number of brilliant maneuvers followed, which resulted in the fight at Elandslaagte, where I was wounded. managed to escape after many hardships and am awaiting full recovery from my wounds before returning to the front. And now I come to the subject that makes every humane soldier tremble with ragethe manner in which the British treat our wounded and prisoners. I wish above all things that the world might know how completely these scoundrels violate all conventional and humanitarian laws. How they butchered wounded soldiers with their lances, cruelly maltreated prisoners and that in direct contrast with the so-called 'stupid Boers' who are treating their English prisoners and wounded with the greatest kindness." PERSONAL AND INCIDENTAL.

Sir Frederick Carrington Has Seen Many Years of Service.

Major General Sir Frederick Carrington who has been ordered from his command in the Belfast district to South Africa, will return to familiar ground when he joins the forces that are fighting the Boers. Sir Frederick displayed much wisdom and ability in his work as commander of the British during the Matabele war. For twenty years his name has been associated with South Africa. The troop which he founded in 1877 still bears the name of "Carrington's Horse." He took part in the Kaffir war, and he rendered notable service in the Transkei district. In 1881 he was an officer of Warren's Bechuanaland expedition and was the commander of the border police for five years. In 1893 he was made major general and appointed military adviser to the Governor of the Cape. General Carrington is fifty-six years old. Dr. W. J. Leyds, the Boer agent at Brus-

Westminster Gazette, of London, accusing the Boers of firing on surgeons and ambuances on the field in South Africa, said: declare, without hesitation, that the Boer soldier does not exist who, knowingwould fire on a man employed on an errand of mercy. That mistakes occur on both sides is too evident, from the reports published from time to time of alleged cruelties, which a fuller examination has proved to be the result either of a misunderstanding or of ignorance of the rules of warfare. But the numerous accounts in men are in themselves a refutation of such charges. One report says the Boers were made to dig their own graves before being tied to a stake for execution. If this is true, I can only express my horror and indignation. Such acts of barbarity must henceforth sully the annals of British war-

The American army mule must be vaccinated before he can be enlisted in the British army service in South Africa in the future. The admiralty has passed upon his case and the decree is final. Seventyfive or a hundred, possibly more, of the mules died of glanders or a kindred discase after they were landed on African The animals are separated, temperature taken and virus injected. If the animal is infected the theory is that by the use of this special virus there will be a quick rise in the temperature, thus denoting that the disease, glanders, has found lodgement in the system of the beast, although it may not have shown itself for days or weeks if the virus had not been used. Vaccination of mules has caused delay in loading the transport Corinthia at New Orleans.

Large sums of money are being subscribed to the Canadian patriotic fund for the South African soldiers. The Canadian Pacific Railway and the Grand Trunk have each given $15,000 the fund, and the Bank of Commerce and the Bank of British North America have sent $5,000 each. The fund started by the Toronto Globe a week ago has already reached nearly $10,000.

Free State, and a veteran of the Spanish-American war, is organizing in Chicago a troop of cavalry, the members of which are Boer sympathizers. Captain Seligman has proffered his services to the country of his birth and is expecting a message which shall summon him to the front. The cavalry troop which he is organizing already has more than forty members.

Milwaukeeans who sympathize with the British in the struggle with the Boers in South Africa last night contributed $1,000 towards the Mansion House fund in aid of the widows and orphans of the British killed. The occasion was a largely attended meeting at Plymouth Church.

The executive committee of the South African conference met in New York last night to talk over plans for the big pro-Boer meeting to be held on Jan. 29, in the Grand Central Palace. Resolutions were adopted calling the attention of the Secretary of State to a published interview given by Arthur G. Van Sittart, British consul at New Orleans, in which he is alleged to have accused the Congress of the United States of being guilty of "bombast and political buncombe," and to have otherwise impeached the honesty of their motives and convictions. The resolutions request the Secretary of State, "If the interview be true," to act so as to uphold the dignity of the Congress and the people of the United States by compelling the with-drawal of the British consul at that place.

STRIKE AND RIOT.

Rio De Janeiro Agitators Shout "Death to the Republic."

RIO JANEIRO, Jan. 16 .- Over 20,000 drivers of all kinds of vehicles went on strike yesterday. A small fraction of monarchists, headed by Curo Preto, a brother of Carlos Alfonso, and Malvino Reis, attempted to take advantage of the situation. Numerous groups attacked different points, tearing up the street-car rails and destroying cars. Several thousands of rioters in front of the President's palace raised cries of "Long live the monarchy," "Death to the republic." A small force of cavalry dispersed the rioters with difficulty. The city to-day has the appearance of martial law having been proclaimed. The horse cars and other vehicles are partly working. The police, during the first hours of the disturbance, were extremely weak, and inefficient, but were reinforced by regular troops, especially cavalry, and or-der was re-established promptly.

Equal Wages for Men and Women. COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 16 .- At the re quest of the legislative committee of the Ohio Federation of Labor, Representative Ross to-day introduced in the House a bill providing for equal wages for men and women. The provisions of the bill are: "That in any profession, pursuit or service of any kind where female labor or professional service is employed, such female shall be paid for such labor or professional service the customary amount of compensation paid male employes for like services. Any person, firm, or corporation or public board violating the provisions of this act shall, upon conviction thereof by any court of competent jurisdiction, be fined in any sum not less than $100 nor more than $500 for each such offense.'

War Against Female Labor.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.-The first step in the war to be waged by the organizations of the Building Material Trades Council against the employment of women in factories has been C. B. Meyers and Herman Felgenhauer, representing the Metal-polishers' and Buffers' Union, the only one in the council whose members have to compete with women laborers, when they called on the manufacturers and demanded that no more women be employed. As one reason for the war against woman labor is the protection of the health of women. Manufacturers say the work does not injure women's health more than men's, and that precautions are taken to prevent unhealthful conditions. The statement that the women can work for a short time only is denied by the manufacturers.

Wages of All Increased.

A dispatch from Pittsburg says: "Along with the liberal wage advance of the Pennsylvania Railroad which goes to the yard men and the men of the road's freight service, and reaches a considerable majority of the men employed on the lines east of Pittsburg and Erie, the management of the Pennsylvania lines west has made a readjustment which will meet a similar advance to the majority of men of the yards of the lines west, which, as the readjustment for the lines east, goes into effect Jan. 1. It is understood that the majority of the men affected in the yards west will be advanced something like 10 per cent."

Boat Picked Up Bearing that Name-Crew Composed of Thirty-Five Men, All Germans.

ST. JOHNS, Jan. 16.-The tug Ingraham reports that a boat has been picked up off Cape Pine, near the scene of the wreck in St. Mary's bay bearing the name "Heligoland." This, without doubt, is one of the boats of the sunken steamer. In fact, everything goes to show that the wrecked steamer is the Heligoland, the property of the Dutch-American Pretroleum Company. Among a number of flags picked up this evening near Holyrood was one with the colors, blue, white and red, with the letter "R" in the center. This is the house flag of the company. Taken with the finding of the coat off Cape Pine, it seems to leave no doubt as to the identity of the vessel. A life buoy was also picked up by the Tweedie Trading Company. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 16.-The agents of the tank steamship Heligoland in this city say the fact that a portion of the ship's boat marked "Heligoland." was picked up off Cape Pine, Newfoundland, is not convincing proof that the ship wrecked last Thursday is really the Heligoland. The wrecked steamship is described as having two masts and her funnel amidship, whereas the Heligoland carries three masts and her funnel is aft. The Heligoland has a cargo of 1,100,000 gallons of refined petroleum, valued at $75,000. Her crew, all told, consists of thirty-five men, all of whom are Germans. The Heligoland, Captain Von Rittern, sailed from Philalelpnia Jan. 5 for Bergen, Norway. The Heligoland was built at Newcastle, Eng., in 1890, and registers 1,563 tons. She was owned by the Deutsche-American Petroleum Company.

kill Colson if his (Scott's) character was arraigned. "The testimony taken by the board showed that Scott had acted the part of a spoiled boy, that he was totally without military experience, training or discipline, and that he resented his colonel's efforts to 'break him in.' Colson charged that Scott was in the habit of drinking and loitering around saloons, remaining out of camp and that he had never drilled with his company but a time or two in the six months of service. Colonel Colsen testified that Scott had frequently visited saloons. " 'How do you know that I visited sa-

" 'I went there to get a drink, sir.' "The board recommended that Scott be discharged on the charge of incompetency. General Royal T. Frank, who succeeded General Wheeler in command of the Fourth Corps, approved the findings of the poard and sent them to Washington. Scott procured a leave of absence and after ten days returned and announced that he had been at Washington and had 'got it is being raised to carry on the work of fixed,' and that he would stay with the Dwight L. Moody. regiment. Things were no better between them, and Colonel Colson preferred charges against him for disobedience of orders, disrespect to his commanding officer and conduct to the prejudice of good order and military discipline and asked tuat he be tried by a general court martial.

"One of the specifications to the charges set out an open defiance on the part of Scott of Colonel Colson's authority in the presence of other officers and he harbored a desperate and bad character in his quarters after the colonel had issued orders for his expulsion from the camp. General Frank scented serious trouble and being always a peace-maker when possible, sought to patch up the trouble as the regiment was soon to be mustered out and induced the colonel to withdraw the

"After this things were quiet until the that ceremony was concluded, hostilities began in earnest. Lieutenant Scott was dining at a restaurant with a party of friends. Colonel Colson entered, and, giving his order for dinner proceeded to the only vacant seat at the table where Scott and his friends were seated, apparently not noticing the presence of the latter until some remark made by Scott attracted his attention. Colonel Colson thought it was intended as an insult. Just what followed next it is impossible to say, but Scott arose deliberately and quietly laid down his napkin, pushed his chair to the table and stepping behind it, raised his pistol. As he did this Colson fired, the ball passing through the space Scott had just vacated. I do not know who fired first, but several shots were exchanged, one lodging in Colson's groin from the effects of which it is said he will never recover. No notice was taken of the matter by the military authorities as the men had been mustered out. The civil authorities also ignored it."

SENSATIONAL TRAGEDY.

Bank Cashier Shoots a Teller and Then Commits Suicide.

COLUMBUS, Ga., Jan. 16.-Captain J. W. Murphy, cashier of the Third National Bank, instantly killed Teller P. T. Schutze this morning and then committed suicide. The murder and suicide occurred while the bank was alive with customers and the full corps of clerks. Captain Murphy, who did the shooting, has been one of the most prominent business men of the city for a number of years, but of recent months he has been in ill health and has suffered two strokes of paralysis. It is believed he was temporarily insane when the shooting was done, as he and Schutze had long been the closest of friends, having been associated with each other in the business affairs of the bank.

The evidence before the coroner's jury this afternoon shows that Murphy, presumably insane, placed the pistol close to the temple of Mr. Schutze and fired. Tenn., this morning. pathies by declaring that if he were a Filipino he "would fight till he was gray against the unholy aggression of the United This language of a United States senator will undoubtedly be duly cabled by the Filipino junta to such of the insurgents as can be reached, and it will encourage them to persevere in their favorite pastime of shooting down American soldiers. Pettigrew allows his feverish malice against the administration and the party with which he formerly affiliated to carry him to fiendish lengths. He will have a heavy account to render one of these days to his loyal constituents. One of them, Orman K. Obson, formerly a soldier in the First South Dakota Volunteers, and now, by reenlistment, a member of the Thirty-fifth United States Volunteer Infantry, tells stripe in a letter to a friend at Sloux Falls, After describing some of the hard fighting in which he was engaged, he says: "The natives are coming in every day in small bands and giving up their arms. They see their folly, and if it were not for unscrupulous leaders and the encouragement they receive from American traitors, I think the war would soon end. My contempt for them (the traitors) is shared by every soldier-at least nine in every ten We have much more respect for the insurgent who goes into the treuches with his Mauser and fights for his opinions, however wrong he may be, than for the sneaking copperhead who, at a safe distance, seeks to barter our lives for political capital-the traitor who will stoop to treason one of the sneaks."

Pettigrew boasts that if he were a Filpino he would fight till he was gray, etc. against the government of the United States: but if he were a Filipino and remained the same old Pettigrew he would to fight with his mouth. Is there any record of the senior South Dakota senator ever fighting for his country or putting himself in danger of the enemy's bullets' So far as we can learn he never shouldered a musket in defense of his country; and if he were a Filipino insurgent the probability is that he would do as he always has done
